

Special panels

Wet panels

The wet panel has been designed as a complement for wet zones.

This panel incorporates a steel piece, the interior part of which permits it to be coupled to the rim that delimits the wet zone, thus resulting in the panel being suspended to avoid any contact of the water with the insulation.

